GENEALOGY of the LINDS.

The Surname of Lynne, like many others of great antiquity is local, and was aſſumed by the proprietors of the Lands and Barony of Lynne, in Airſhire as ſoon as Surnames became hereditary in Scotland, but we muſt here obſerve that in antient times it was variouſly written, for Lynne Linn and Lind, are undoubtedly all the ſame, and there appears to have been free Barons of this name in very early times, viz. the Linn's of that Ilk, in Airſhire, the Linn's of Pitmadie, in Perthſhire.

I. The firſt of the Lynn's of that Ilk which we have on record, was ROBERT de LYNNE, who lived in the reign of King William the Lion and is witneſs to a donation of Euſtachus de Veſcy, to the Monaſtry of Kelſo anno 1207 (a). He was father of

II. WILLIAM de LYNNE, who made a donation to the Monaſtry of Scoon,
